

KAMAU ABAYOMI

Spoken Word Artist, DJ & Producer

Kamau Abayomi is an interdisciplinary artist, mystic poet and recording artist whose work explores poetry as a channel to the divine. Rooted in Black American creative traditions and decades of engagement with African and Asian spiritual practices, he brings written and spoken word, music, visual art and movement into a shared exploration of consciousness, identity and the art of living.

CURRENT PROJECT

ÀṢẸ

A personal and collective invocation.

ÀṢẸ serves as a call to access the divine life force energy, to fuel our voice for powerful invocations of clarity, purpose, integrity, and creative command. ÀṢẸ is an Afro-Diasporic fusion of rap, dancehall reggae, afrobeats, afrohouse and Japanese ambient textures, used as a bridge unifying multiple African-diaspora club music genres.

Three ways into the word.

GODBODY

VISIONARY FICTION / 2014

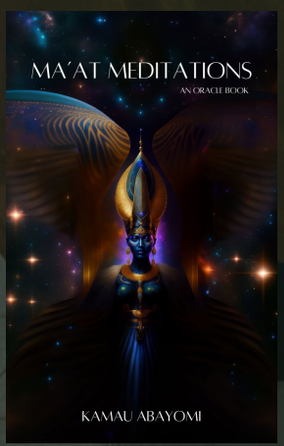

In a mystically illuminated San Francisco, an activist, a dancer and two young girls with emerging extrasensory perception find their destinies intertwined. Their encounters unfold through synchronicity, choice and the pursuit of self-knowledge.

#METHREE

POETIC MEMOIR / 2017

A vulnerable passage from boyhood to manhood, written in the wake of #MeToo. Intimate storytelling explores sexuality, violation, innocence, love and longing, giving language to the often unspoken pain men carry.

Ma'at Meditations

ORACLE WRITING / 2025

An oracle book grounded in Ma'at's principles of truth, balance, order and harmony. Its passages invite contemplation and intuitive inquiry, offering a way to bring spiritual understanding into the choices of daily life.

The practice becomes the art.

Kamau with his Shingon Buddhist teacher, Gosen Ikeguchi, at Saifukuji Temple.

Meditation and mantra inform Kamau’s poetry, sound and visual language. His practice spans three decades of experiential metaphysical study, including initiation into Gosen Ikeguchi’s 500-year-old Shingon Buddhist lineage at Saifukuji Temple, in which he is the only non-Japanese initiate.
